Insert from line 16 to 17:

We fight for an independent, democratic and sustainable Europe that puts people and planet before profit.

European sovereignty means our collective capacity to shape our future and make democratic choices. It requires strengthening Europe's capacity to act, reducing our dependence on fossil fuels and external suppliers, and building a sustainable economy that puts people and the planet first, while protecting people, restoring ecosystems and upholding our social and environmental standards. It is not isolation or domination, but the ability to build a democratic, socially just and ecologically sustainable Europe that cooperates internationally and serves people and the planet.
