In the face of Trump's proposals we will continue to work for a European industry that is resilient and much less dependent on authoritarian regimes. A European industrial policy for the climate-neutral transformation of the European industry is key to this. Our industrial and commercial policies should enhance and protect local production, environmental and social norms, while insuring consumers' rights and health.

Insert from line 54 to 55:

5. push for global agreements that address the climate crisis equitably and prevent further environmental degradation. We will change the budgetary rule, to allow member states, local governments and the Union to invest in this transition.

Insert after line 90:

10. Against a strong and aggressive American policy, we need an united and federalist Europe

As Trump will truly benefit of all the means to conduct his aggressive policies, both at home and abroad, we need to prepare the European Union to defend democratic ideals and european interests. That's why we need to push for democratic progress within our institutions, we don't have the luxury to be once again blocked by the unanimity rule when we will need to negotiate or sanction illeberal states. We need to confer more power to the European Parliament to assure legitimacy and coordinated policies. Federalism is now at the core of our green agenda and a too long waited strategic tool.
