Far-right governments in the EU, such as Italy and Hungary, continue to foster narratives of hate and xenophobia, including through the proposal of migration policies clearly at odds with human rights and EU law, such as the recent deal between Italy and Albania. Furthermore, EU Member States, like Hungary, the Netherlands, Germany and France, are reinstating border checks and straying away	Proposal for compromise wording (FYEG & EGP Committee): Insert after line 15 (start of the second paragraph): "Far-right governments in Europe continue to foster narratives of hate and xenophobia, including through the proposal of migration policies clearly at odds with human rights and EU law." The United Kingdom.. Insert from line 22 to 23: cases of torture and abuse by police being recorded by human rights organisations. Italy set up detention centres for asylum seekers in Albania, for a total cost of about 1 billion EUR of taxpayers' money over five years, announcing the plan to deport men rescued at sea to Albania. The competent judges ruled that such summary deportations and detentions are not in line with international and EU law. Since their ruling, these judges are now facing unacceptable attacks by the far-right government, a smear campaign supported directly by Elon Musk, and death threats. [See the case of Silvia Albano, one of the six judges of the immigration section of the Rome court who on 18 October did not validate the detention of asylum seekers]	Proposal for compromise wording (FYEG, EGP Committee, Europa Verde) Insert after line 16: The United Kingdom (until mid-2024), Italy and the Netherlands set up mechanisms to outsource the detention of refugees to third countries (respectively Rwanda, Albania and Uganda), all with questionable safety records and possible human rights violations, exposing people to further life-threatening abuse. Italy's set up of migration detention centres for people rescued at sea to Albania has been invalidated by courts, citing violations of international and EU law. As a consequence, these judges have come under immense abuse and attacks, including death threats, from the right-wing government and other right-wing personalities and groups.	CAS accepted as amended

However, we strongly believe in using the word Global North and Global South instead of terms that look solely at income based on GDP as it doesn't reflect the unequal power dynamic between former colonies and countries who have benefited from colonisation in various ways (economic and social). These systems have and in some case still extract from countries who were colonised. It also highlights that despite decolonisation, the colonality of these systems remains in various facets and in how different countries interact with one another. We also recognise that there are other terms we can use like the 'global majority' that tries to reflect what was explained above. We refer ourselves to the Oxfam Inclusive language guide as well as the Group of 77 or G77 in the UN who use the term Global North/Global South.	Withdrawn - with annotation added (pre-CAS proposal)
