| Tabled by: | Green Party of England and Wales |

From line 20 to 28:

Across Europe, procedural accelerations and insufficient safeguards are repeating a familiar pattern. Changes are being made to urban-plan~~n~~ing and construction legislation ~~adopted in June 2026 in North Macedonia ? an EU candidate country ? have accelerated procedures for~~and policy, enabling data-centre and related energy infrastructure development projects, while key criteria and safeguard~~s~~ing remain insufficiently defined. Plans for ~~a national~~ data ~~centre and a proposed commercial project~~centres, such as those in Peh?evo, North Macedonia, or Llanrumney, Wales, have raised questions about transparency, investment criteria ~~and~~, public participation, and environmental protection.. Where communities are confronted with such projects without information or a say, emergency brakes follow, as moratoria in Scotland and the
